D DESERVING CASE FOR THE CHARITABLE

Mr. and Mrs. S. Blume, an aged couple living at 1409 East Monroe whose little home was burned about three months ago are in bad need of a little furniture. They lost everything they had in the fire. The Blumes came from Mexico, where they left the savings of several years in the hands of bandits.

Mr. Blume who is 74 years old, is a carpenter, but is too old and crippled to work. He is expert at repairing furniture, however, and manages to eke a scanty living at this work. His cottage was built by himself from the wreck of his burned home. Among the things needed to furnish it are springs and a mattress.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Organization of Local Church Meets And Listens to Talks on Subject of Interest

The beautiful home of Dr. and Mrs. Shackelford was thrown open to a large gathering of members and friends of the Christian Church Friday for their annual all day meeting. Seventy-one were present to partake of the bountiful dinner and listen to the splendid program. Rev. W. S. Buchanan recently of Canton Ohio gave the address. Mrs. Chas. W. Hunter and Mrs. Edgar Orr contributed the pleasure of two beautiful solos. The regular business meeting of the C. W. B. M. Auxiliary was held at which time the gold emblem of the Missionary society was presented to Mrs. J. H. Bowden. The following beautiful words were given by Mrs. T. A. French, explaining the meaning of the day:

"In all orders or organizations of importance they have one day set aside as a memorial day and which they honor their dead; so it is eminently fitting that so great an organization as the C. W. B. M. church should have such a day to pay tribute to their honored dead. The first of June was not a day set apart for such a purpose but came into existence through chain events. In the year 1908 it was conceived by some of the members to give Mrs. M. V. Warren a birthday surprise party so a few of her most intimate friends went to her home where a business meeting was had. It was not a business meeting and no record was kept except in the hearts of those present. The following year a like meeting was held but it broadened to include the ladies of the church to join in the birthday celebration also for an annual meeting. It may be in the minds of some of the newer members. Who is Mrs. Warren? She was one of the pioneer members of this church coming here in the year 1888. Was one of the most faithful, consecrated members all these years always present at the Lord's day services and if by chance she were absent the question came into every mind where is Mrs. Warren? The third year no meeting was held but the following year it was again decided to have a surprise. The cause was stubbornly contested from when the first witness was sworn in until the last left the stand. The arguments were to the point and altogether the legal battle was one of the most bitterly contested in the local courts.

Leon S. Jacobs and George Purdy Bullard represented the defendants and Hayes and Laney and J. L. B. Alexander were counsel for Mr. Young. Judge Lyman sat in the case.

"KISSEL" SMITH IN TOWN—A. B. Smith, representative of the Pacific Coast Kissel Kar branch, is again willing away the pleasant hours in Phoenix. Mr. Smith spent Saturday telling Messrs. Reuben and Parsons of the local Kissel agency of the beauties and distinguishing features of the new "100 point" Kissel Six, a carload of which is expected to arrive in Phoenix early next week.

EVERYTHING BUT—Payne, local agent and Underwood, traveling agent on Diamond tires spent a week at Roosevelt. They brought back tan, dust, fatigue, glowing accounts of the scenery and the performances of the Diamond tires and one fish. The fish is mentioned last because it is the most important part of the story. If it were not that these two folks sought a week and found one fish, there wouldn't be any joke. What? Just so's not to knock Lake Roosevelt, however, they say the failure to amass large quantities of bass was due to lack of equipment (and experience) rather than to the fact the fish weren't there.

CATLINS RETURNS—W. W. Catlin, local manager for the Rabbit-Polson company returned yesterday from a business trip to the north of the state.

S. S. WATERLESS TODAY—Water will be turned out of the south side canals between five this morning and four this afternoon, according to an announcement at the reclamation service yesterday. Sailing and construction work will necessitate turning off the water during the day.

WANT GRAPE DOPE—Inquiries relating to the cultivation and marketing of grapes has led to the Chamber of Commerce asking for information of a practical nature on these subjects. The methods of raising and the manner of marketing Thompson Seedless grapes are topics on which the chamber wants information from local ranchers.

FLICKINGER HOME—P. C. Flickinger, the Firestone "special" in this part of the southwest, rolled into town yesterday after a business trip to Douglas, Bisbee, Tucson, Globe and other Arizona cities. He says that the "Apache Trail" is in tip-top shape now, and that folks with Firestone tires need fear no trouble whatsoever, at all. Flickinger has some great stories to tell of the great sales of tires and automobiles being made in the copper camps and says that "business never was better, and looks to be still better."

A few dollars invested in this company at present may bring you many in return. Easter Oil, Gas & Mining Company, Easter, Arizona.—Adv.

YOUNG LOSES SUIT AGAINST CAMPBELLS

Bitterly Contested Damage Suit Ends with Verdict for Defendant; Odd Testimony of Eye-Witnesses

After being out all night a jury empaneled to try the $31,500.00 damage suit brought by C. D. Young returned a verdict for the defendants, Dan Campbell and Colin Campbell. The theory of the jurors was that Mr. Young on a motorcycle ran into the automobile driven by Dan Campbell and not that the machine ran into him as alleged by the plaintiff.

The accident occurred November 24, 1914, at the intersection of Adams street and Third avenue. Mr. Young received injuries which were admitted by the defendants. The defendant, who was driving west on Adams street, contended that when he approached the telephone office he saw Young traveling east on the same street and signaled with his horn. He slowed down and his machine was almost at a standstill when Young ran into him, according to the eye-witnesses. The evidence put on by the defendants disclosed the fact that there was approximately fifteen feet from the point where the car stopped to the south side of the street where Young might have continued his easterly course.

A peculiar feature of the case was the conflicting testimony. Seven witnesses for the plaintiff testified that Young was lying in the southeast corner of the intersection while nine witnesses for the defendant were equally positive that the accident occurred in the southwest corner of the intersection.

The case was stubbornly contested from when the first witness was sworn in until the last left the stand. The arguments were to the point and altogether the legal battle was one of the most bitterly contested in the local courts.

Leon S. Jacobs and George Purdy Bullard represented the defendants and Hayes and Laney and J. L. B. Alexander were counsel for Mr. Young. Judge Lyman sat in the case.
